November 14-16, 2017

for the
7th National Land Claims
Agreements Coalition
Modern Treaties Conference

WHAT PARTICIPANTS HAVE SAID ABOUT PREVIOUS LAND CLAIMS AGREEMENTS COALITION EVENTS:

"I came away with a better understanding of our history as a country, and a humbled hope for our future as a country of many nations. It was an honour to attend."

"I was impressed by the leadership and diversity in the room... the openness of the discussions and the quality of the arguments made me feel proud to be Canadian..."

This conference will provide the contacts and information you need to work effectively with treaty organizations across Canada. You need to be there!

Featuring:

- High-profile Canadian and international speakers
- First Nation and Inuit leaders and youth
- Discussions of timely legal, cultural and Indigenous governance issues
- Academic and technical training sessions
- Sessions focused on improving intergovernmental relationships

Modern Treaties and Reconciliation will place Canada's 150th anniversary within the broader context of the endurance and timelessness of Indigenous cultures in Canada, and explore how modern treaties can be an expression of reconciliation between the Crown and Indigenous peoples.

Registration opens in early September.
